

1867: Henry Chadwick declares hits per game the “true test of batting”

A horizontal timeline with a dark blue line and arrows at both ends. A vertical line segment extends upwards from the left end of the horizontal line, ending in a dark blue circle. The text "1867: Henry Chadwick declares hits per game the 'true test of batting'" is positioned to the right of this circle.