

Player Evaluation

Executives use modeling results to decide which players to target in trades and in free agency.

Player Development

Players use data-driven insights to tweak their game and achieve greater levels of performance.

In-Game Strategy

Coaches use analytics tools to position fielders and decide when to make substitutions.

